The subject was discussed at the European Rabbis Conference (CER) in Antwerp, last two years .

Five EU ban kosher meat cuts, in addition to many of the country's troops in the country legislatures medicine i non-traditional circumcision under control while receiving targeted legislative proposals discuss liyım it. In this case the Jewish law (the cabbage) larger source of concern in religious circles who want to implement complete.

According to Jewish traditions, male babies who do not have any health problems should be circumcised 8 days after birth. Medical circumcision, timing and methods are adapted to the Jewish tradition even comes up on the requirement that the person who made the Jewish practice of circumcision is creating problems.

The rabbis argued that traditional circumcision was perceived as primitive by the Europeans, but that the practitioners who practiced Jewish circumcision (Moel) knew their work very well, and that the utmost care was given to the health conditions of father and son. Conference President Rabbi Pinchas Goldschmidt speech in the face of migrating to Europe in recent years also drew attention to the thousands of Muslims and said:
