The rabbinate has never been displaced by the image of the revered genius Zalman Kosowski, who served in the rabbinate on three different continents – between being a US military rabbi and Switzerland’s chief rabbi | The rabbis who are suckling him admire him Baruch Dayan Truth: He passed away at the age of 80 – Rabbi Zalman Kosovsky, late ZZR, former Chief Rabbi of Zurich, who led communities across three different continents for decades.

Rabbi Kosovsky, born in Tehran – Iran to refugees from Lithuania, who escaped from the Soviet takeover of their state, grew up in South Africa, after which he traveled to Israel for rabbinical studies before moving to the United States, where he spent much of the 1960s and 1970s, serving at one point as a Czech citizen. Flynn (a military major) in the U.S. Marines and worked on his doctorate in sociology. This is how the JTA website reported.

He later served as a community rabbi of a synagogue in Canton – London before assuming the post of Chief Rabbi of a Jewish Community Roof Organization representing all Jews in Zurich – Switzerland, which he led from 1991 to 2007.

“His greatest achievement was that he held the congregations together,” said Rabbi Pinchas Goldschmidt, president of the Conference of European Rabbis. Rabbi Kosovsky served on a committee of European rabbis.

Rabbi Kosovsky was a researcher and worked hard to find solutions for poor women whose husbands refused to give them a divorce.

Rabbi Noam Hartig, the current chief rabbi of Zurich, said of Rabbi Kosovsky, "He was my rabbi. He was the one who encouraged me to be a rabbi."

From the late Rabbi Kosovsky Synagogue in Florida, they announced that the rabbi passed away last Sunday for natural causes unrelated to the Corona virus epidemic.

His soul will be bundled in the bundle of life.
